BY NICK AMES

A LEGAL loophole which allowed drug dealers to brush off incriminating forensic evidence in court has been closed by researchers working on uncovering the secret history of banknotes circulating in Folkestone.

Police frequently use cocaine found on bank notes as evidence that a criminal handled large amounts of the drug.

But many defendants claim the contamination is due to them living in an area of high drug use.

The scientists focused on Folkestone as it is a port – and so notes would be generally regarded as having a greater degree of contamination because of activities such as smuggling.

But they discovered the levels – almost every note had traces of cocaine and one in 20 had heroin – were the same as other areas in the UK where the same experiment was conducted.

This means the often-used excuse won't work – because contamination is evenly distributed on bank notes throughout the country.

"Across the country contamination was on average approximately the same, so geographical location was not important," said Gavin Lloyd, of Bristol University, who helped carried out the study.

The company Mass Spec Analytical carries out drug analyses for police and customs and worked on the study.

The team is now presenting its research at the British Association Festival of Science.

A Mass Spec spokesman said: "Most notes have probably not come into direct contact with cocaine, but bank-sorting machines even out contamination by moving the drug between lots of notes.

"We have shown this to be true and excuses about high crime rate areas by those in the dock will no longer hold water."

Speed safety figures just 'don't add up'

BY NICK AMES

THE speed camera programme is in chaos this week after the Government admitted calculations on casualties and lives saved could be incorrect.

The Department for Transport currently uses figures supplied by Kent Police when it comes to calculating deaths and serious injuries avoided.

Currently these show a reduction of 58.3 per cent in accidents since the cameras came into operation across the county in 2002.

But the DfT is now to re-evaluate these calculations as figures recently supplied by hospitals nationwide show an increase in hospital admis-

Later this month the department will decide whether to use the medical data rather than police.

Discrepancies occur as police officers called to a scene make a judgement on injuries when they arrive.

This means internal injuries are not taken into account and nor is any subsequent hospital admission.

Hospital figures are based on whether a doctor treats the victim.

A spokeswoman for the Kent and Medway Safety Camera Partnership said: "Yes, at the moment we do use police figures.

"But if the Government decides to change the way the figures are collated we will follow suit.

"If a large scale discrepancy exists then it does need to be sorted out."

Kent Police agreed they supplied the figures under Home Office guide-

We will not change anything until a Government decision is made, added a spokeswoman.

Nationally there are more than 6,000 cameras across the country bringing in £100 million of fines each year - and fixed camera positions exist in almost all local towns.

FINE: The Government could be forced to review the effectiveness of speed cameras

'We have put our entire road safety programme into a box marked speed cameras," said Kevin Delaney, former head of traffic at the Met

"The figures were the justification for the policy and if they are called into doubt the whole thing is undermined."

Speed cameras have become a crucial part of the Government's road safety strategy.

It set itself the target when elected of cutting the number of people who were killed or seriously injured in traffic incidents by up to half.

Over recent years police reports have been encouraging.

A DfT spokesman said: "Research shows the cameras help to save around 100 lives each year.'

Friends slam story about the wildlife park founder

Book claims Aspinall was a cheat

A CONTROVERSIAL new book is causing ructions among friends of former millionaire gambler John Aspinall.

The man who founded Port Lympne Wild Animal Park is at the centre of a work called The Hustlers, written by Los Angeles-based celebrity interviewer Douglas Thompson.

Billed as "An explosive true story of gambling greed and the perfect con" it features a motley cast of characters from 1950s London including Mr Aspinall's former business partner John Burke who, it alleges, was involved in a major scam.

This was known as 'The Big Edge', but publishers are refusing to reveal exactly how it worked. However, the book also claims Mr Aspinall cheated gamblers at his nightspot The Clermont Club which was among the trendiest spots in London 50 years ago. It is these references which have attracted the controversy.

Taki Theodoracopulos, a friend of the former wildlife campaigner, hit out at the book in his column in The Spectator magazine.

He said: "I read this utter rubbish written about my friend John Aspinall. All I can say is they would, wouldn't they, now that he's long dead and unable to defend his reputation.

"What a ghastly place Britain can be, where no one is safe after their death from the libels of scum trying to make a cheap buck.

"Cheating at the Clermont? There were gaming board spies every-where. Only a fool would risk his business by trying to cheat."

Taki, based in Gstaad, Switzerland, admits gamers lost money to Mr Aspinall. But he insists it was all legal and above board. He added: "We all lost money with [Mr] Aspinall. But it is absurd to say John was cheating."

John Aspinall was one of the major players in the post-war London era.

In 1956, a successful betting coup enabled him to buy Georgian mansion Howletts, near Canterbury, which later became a wildlife park specialising in the conservation of threatened

Out of work and trapped

SOME 12,000 people of working age in Shepway are not working, according to a report by Conservative candidate for Folkestone and Hythe, Damian Collins.

"Working age people looking for employment are let down by a system that's trapping them in a cycle of welfare dependency," says Mr Collins in 'Crossbow', the Conservative policy journal.

The number of people of working age who are not working has increased by 74 per cent over the last ten years according

Mr Collins also points out that these figures do not include people who are currently unemployed but looking for work.

The report states "we must have more vocational training and apprenticeships

Mr Collins added: "The system should offer more compulsion for people to find work as soon as they can.

"Put simply, I feel strongly that working people should be looked up to.
"Working people are let down by being

Hythe 'needs more B&Bs'

THERE would be a massive boost to Hythe's tourist industry if there were more bed and breakfast hotels, a tourism chief has claimed.

Chris Kirkham, manager of the Discover Folkestone, Hythe and Romney Marsh tourism partnership, told Hythe Tourism Forum that feedback had highlighted the lack of B&Bs in the area.

"Hythe has a very special place in the appeal of this corner of Kent," he said. "But, remembering past visits, many people ask us where all the B&Bs have gone. We would like to know if there really are fewer places putting up the 'Visitors welcome' signs.

Five stars for safety at Saga

THE Saga group has been awarded five stars for health and safety compliance in an independent audit by the British Safety Council.

The audit was intended to check if the Saga Group was complying with regulations, but the British Safety Council went on to compare the Folkestone based company with companies across Britain for best practice.

The Saga Group is only the second company in Britain to be awarded top marks in a Health and Safety audit, as well as the five-star rating, during its first audit.

Jane Thomson, director of Human Resources at the Saga Group, said: "Health and safety is about common sense and doing things properly – two things we specialise in at Saga."

A LAUNCH TO REMEMBER

THE launch of Yourshepway last week has been widely welcomed by newsagents, who saw hundreds of copies disappear from their shelves within hours of the first delivery.

In Folkestone, Peter Scott, owner of P and L Scott, said the first issue of Yourshepway had been a runaway success.

"I think it went very well," said Mr Scott (pictured left). "I've never seen anything like it. The response was very favourable."

A short way up the M20, at The Kiosk at Ashford train station, shop assistant Bill Jarman passed on 700 hundred copies of sister paper Yourashford to early-morning commuters.

"That's the most that have ever gone for any newspaper in one morning," said Bill.

And along the coast in the Dover area, Richard Williams, owner of Giliver News in Walmer, told how his customers were impressed with Yourdover.

"We had people coming in and asking for them – I was getting phone calls asking if I could deliver them as well," he said.

This place could be a gem, declares leader

SHEPWAY could be "the gem of the south coast", Robert Bliss, leader of Shepway District Council, told delegates at a conference of business leaders at the Leas Cliff Hall in Folkestone.

More than 100 businessmen and women met at the Channel Suite on Thursday to hear ideas for the development of the Shepway area.

The conference was held by the Channel Chamber of Commerce, in association with the Shepway Economic Regeneration Partnership and the Creative Foundation.

In his remarks, Cllr Bliss told the conference that "in five years' time this area could be the gem of the south coast.

"There is no doubt that if we get things right," said Cllr Bliss, "the town of Folkestone, and indeed the whole of Shepway, can be transformed for the better.

"The major seafront and harbour development could take the area to new heights, offering new homes, facilities and jobs, as well as helping the town to reclaim its coast," he said.

BY ROB LIVINGSTONE

Cllr Bliss had praise for the Creative Foundation's work in renovating parts of Folkestone's town centre.

"The Creative Foundation is transforming the Old Town of Folkestone into a thriving creative quarter," said Cllr Bliss, describing the area as "a critical mass of properties that were once rotten shells but are now shinning pearls, accommodating businesses in the creative industry sector."

The councillor argued that the planned redevelopment would bring prestige and prosperity to Shepway.

It would also secure the educational future of the area with creation of such institutions as Folkestone Academy, which has been sponsored by the University Centre Folkestone and local entrepeneur Roger De Haan. "The University Centre Folkestone has just opened at Mill Bay," said Cllr Bliss. "Students have started this month, many of them local to the area who would not have had the opportunity to go to university previously."

The attendees were also addressed by Donald Minter OBE, director of the Kent Partnership, and Peter Bettley and Nick Eubank from the Creative Foundation.

The foundation plans to bring together an artistic community in the area of the High Street and Tontine Street.

There was a presentation from Damian Collins, the managing director of Saatchi subsidiary Influence Communications on how Shepway could rebrand itself on the national level.

Mr Collins, who will be standing as Conservative candidate for MP for Folkestone and Hythe, told the conference that "a new way of life would be a good way of summing up what is here".

The smoking ban now leaving platform one...

SMOKING may be allowed at train stations once again as stressed commuters demand a ban rethink.

Passengers have bombarded the office of Transport Secretary Ruth Kelly, saying the ban in the open air at stations is ridiculous.

Folkestone's two stations have a large number of commuters using London-bound services. And passengers say the smoking ban adds to the stress when trains are delayed or cancelled with journey times greatly increased.

The move has the backing of former Health Secretary John Reid, whose moderate plans to curb smoking in public places were scrapped in favour of more drastic measures when he was moved in a cabinet reshuffle.

Mr Reid said: "I have always favoured a degree of choice for adults and have always thought we have to be careful not to ban smoking everywhere."

BY NICK AMES

Another factor behind the proposed rethink is a drop in revenue for station cafés with outside tables since the ban came into force on July 1.

Miss Kelly has asked her staff to draw up plans for 'limited smoking zones' on platforms which would not inconvenience other rail users.

However, any proposed reform is expected to meet serious opposition from current Health Secretary Alan Johnson, and Network Rail continues to support a blanket ban as it "puts the interest of all customers first".

A Department of Health spokesman said: "Our private poll shows the majority oppose any weakening of the ban."

The proposed move comes as Keep Britain Tidy reported a 43 per cent rise in the amount of cigarette butts dropped on Britain's pavements.

The group is encouraging Shepway council to provide more receptacles for the smokingrelated litter.

"The number of dropped dog ends is no surprise as people are concerned about the fire hazard of using a litter bin," said a spokesman.

Folkestone East – the town's main station – has a café which is popular among many earlymorning commuters.

Smoking has been discouraged there for the last few years even before the ban.

But City worker Martin Wilkins said: "There used to be a group of us who would take coffees and teas outside and have a talk and a smoke.

"We all work for major banks in town and it was a good start to the day – a way of exchanging the latest gossip as well as talking through how the markets were doing.

"Sadly, we don't do that anymore as we can't have a cigarette."

ROMNEY CESS BYE TO SMELL

NEW ROMNEY got a breath of fresh air when work was completed on the town's main sewer system. For years, residents had relied on septic tanks and cesspits to remove waste, but these had to be drained by tankers, leading to disruption and bad smells.

But as of Friday, September 7, the town was linked to almost seven miles of sewage systems, built by Southern Water contractor 4Delivery.

Drug addict's town shops ban

SHOPLIFTER Paul Neill, 34, has been banned from every shop in Folkestone apart from the places he collects his prescriptions, benefits and groceries.

Drug addict Neill, of Foord Road South, Folkestone, can use his local pharmacy, Dover Road post office and Sainsbury's Park Farm store after admitting stealing three legs of lamb from Lidl worth £23.97 and a Philips shaver worth £29.99 from Superdrug in the town.

Oliver Kirk, defending, told Folkestone magistrates that Neill stole the lamb to sell to buy food after he was forced from his flat. When stopped in the street by police, Neill admitted stealing the shaver.

Mr Kirk said: "This wasn't exactly crime of the century. Mr Neill has been regularly sent to prison but comes out with the same drug problem he went in with."

Magistrates adjourned the case until October 8 so Neill can join a drug rehabilitation programme but restricted his shopping activities as a condition of bail.

QUESTION & ANSWER

MICHAEL HOWARD

You have been MP for Folkestone and Hythe since 1983. Has it changed much over the years?

A Yes it has. One obvious difference is that we didn't have the Channel Tunnel back then and this has made changes to the area. It has changed in a number of ways since 1982 – some would say for the better, some would not be so sure. I personally think it has definitely changed for the better.

What made you want to be an MP, particularly for the Folkestone and Hythe area?

A I wanted to be a Member of Parliament because I wanted to make a difference and it has been a great privilege to be MP for Folkestone and Hythe as it is a very special constituency. I love it because of the tremendous variety that it has. Folkestone, which obviously has the bigger population, has a massive amount of variety.

This also includes some of the most deprived wards in the South East, which is something that I want to see changed. Then you have Hythe, which is an absolute jewel of a town; Romney Marsh, which is quite unique; and the very attractive countryside, so it is a wonderfully varied constituency.

Do you find it rewarding being an MP for the area?

A Of course, it is a great privilege to represent your fellow citizens and I find it hugely rewarding, not necessarily financially but in many different ways. I thoroughly enjoy it, especially because its people.

Having being MP for 24 years in Folkestone and Hythe, you must have a great knowledge of things to do and see. What is your favourite thing about the area?

A My favourite thing about the area is again the variety that it provides. There are so many things that you can do and a lot of activities for people. My personal favourite, though, is walking along Dymchurch beach. I don't think there are many things that can beat that for me. The area as a whole has a lot to offer.

Some people have negative views about Folkestone. Do you think these opinions are justified?

A You will always find people that have negative views anywhere and of course there is always room for improvement. There are things about Folkestone that do need improving, but on the whole I think it is a great place and is definitely on the up.

Are there any changes that you would like to make to Folkestone at the moment?

A Of course, there are always changes to be made. I would like to see a lot less deprivation in the area. I would like to see more things happen to change that, although I do think that action is being taken to try to deal with this particular issue. Obviously there is a lot of regeneration going on in the area and I think this will help a lot.

With the regeneration in Folkestone taking place, do you think more people will visit the area? Do you think this will help people in the town?

A Yes, I think that more people will visit the area, although lots of people do already. Folkestone is a seaside town and so we get a lot of tourists coming down here. In terms of helping locals, I think the regeneration scheme will provide more jobs and help local businesses. Redevelopment is good for the area and I am pleased that it is going ahead.

Do you feel that you have achieved a lot in your position as MP for Folkestone and Hythe?

I have done my best and I think that is all anybody can do. I've tried to help a lot of people and hope that I have succeeded. I think you can only go into a job like this with a positive view and the intention of trying to help people in the area. This is what I have done and I have tried my best, which is the main thing.

• After representing Folkestone and Hythe as Member of Parliament for 24 years, Michael Howard will be stepping down after the next election. He will no doubt still be seen around the area, whether it be walking on Dymchurch beach or in his home town of Hythe.

Michael Howard, former Home Secretary and leader of the Conservatives, talks to Marijke Cox about his dedication to the constituency of Folkestone and Hythe and why he has found the area so rewarding

And we can prove it...

Computer software now exists to provide the correct structural roof requirements for your conservatory based on your individual post code and the snow and wind loadings for your location. The software also proves that the majority of standard roofs DO NOT COMPLY.

Cattle market is hit again

RESTRICTIONS on the movement of livestock after the latest outbreak of foot and mouth has once again delivered a major headache for Ashford's cattle market.

And market chiefs say it could not have come at a worse time of year for traders.

Although some movement bans were lifted on Saturday, trading of livestock is still at a complete halt.

Mark Cleverdon, livestock auctioneer for the market's Hobbs Parker said: "This really does not improve the situation for us very much at all.

"The lifting of restrictions does mean that we could have a 'red' market which deals with animals going direct to slaughter. But our major business at this time of year involves animals being traded from farm to farm either for fattening or breading purposes.

BY ED HILL

"Last Friday we would have expected to see 10,000 cattle at the market ready to be moved on and this Friday another 5,000, so there is a tremendous backlog of cattle and sheep building up on farms around the country.'

Only animals that are being sent directly to slaughter can currently be moved as authorities look to limit the danger of inadvertently spreading the disease following confirmed cases in badly affected, the movement restrictions have even more serious for sheep farmers.

Chris Older NFU county chairman said: "This is the busiest time for selling the lambs on to other farmers. It also means they cannot buy in new breading sheep.

"Farmers have to keep feeding the animals and see what happens. Unfortunately, bought-in feed has been particularly expensive this year. Normally at this time of year around a million sheep would change hands.

"When the restrictions are finally lifted there is undoubtedly going to be a drop in the prices as everything floods onto the market at the same time. We just have to live with it for a bit. But this has knock-on consequences for the whole year."

NO DEAL: Livestock prices are expected to drop when the market reopens

Is Brenda in line for an Oscar?

RAMSGATE actress Brenda Blethyn is one of the stars of what is rapidly becoming one of the most talked-about films of the year.

Blethyn plays the role of Grace Turner in Atonement, currently on general release.

Keira Knightly is in the lead role of the multigeneration drama which moves from the countryside to the war-torn beaches of Dunkirk and is based on a novel by Ian McEwan, with James McAvoy in the male lead role.

Blethyn, who was born in the Kent seaside town, plays an older relative of one of the people at the centre of the haunting events which

The film opened the Venice Festival and was proclaimed a triumph for director Joe Wright – at 35 the youngest person to ever have his work open the event.

A movie insider said: "It's a complex, demanding plot in an age when most movies are whambam spectaculars.

"Such has been the response it is already a front-runner for next year's Oscars."

The film is to be released in the USA on December 7 in a bid to catch the attention of the massive Christmas film audiences and at a time when it is nearer the Oscar nominations – so it is more prominent in judges' minds.

Scarecrows in memory of the fallen soldiers

THE MYSTERIOUS scarecrow figures which pitched up at Fort Amherst during the summer and were vandalised hours before the Tour de France went through the county, are believed to signify fallen soldiers.

Finnish craftsman Reijo Kela revealed this week that the 130-strong Hei People community has a hidden meaning.

The scarecrows appeared at the Chatham fort in the run up to July's cycle race and moved on to a field near Queenborough on the Isle of Sheppey.

Sequins will stop Kelly from total TV exposure

TV STAR Kelly Brook will wow viewers by wearing revealing outfits to show off her curves when she takes part in the new series of Strictly Come Dancing.

The Rochester-born model has been installed as the early bookies' favourite to win the talent contest.

But the presenter and actress has told her costume designers she is willing to wear a saucy flesh-coloured leotard for the show.

But her modesty will be preserved by strategically placed sequins.

Questions over speed camera safety statistics

THE speed camera programme is in chaos this week after the Government admitted calculations on casualties and lives saved could be incorrect.

The Department for Transport currently uses figures supplied by Kent Police when it comes to calculating deaths and serious injuries avoided.

But the DfT is now to re-evaluate these calculations as figures recently supplied by hospitals nationwide show an increase in admissions.

Why Woolies is after your old mobile phone

WOOLWORTHS is offering the mobile phone generation a chance to go green with a new recycling service.

People can ditch their unwanted phones, earn money and raise cash for charity at www.recyclewithwoolworths.co.uk.

The company will pay between £3 and £130, depending on the phone's value, and an extra 10 per cent of that amount will be donated to Woolworths' Kids First charity.

Outdated phones will then be either recycled or refurbished and sold abroad.

House of Fraser set for a 'glamorous' new look

A FRESH new look is being planned for House of Fraser in a bid to update the firm's 70-year-old image

Design consultancy Kinnersley Kent is to revamp the department stores.

Shoppers will get their first glimpse of the new look – described as "sleek, glamorous and confident" - at London's Oxford Street store during London Fashion Week at the end of the month.

Other stores, at Maidstone's Fremlin Walk and Bluewater, should receive makeovers within the next five years.

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in the district of Shepway...

Possible house price fall is good news for our parents

SCENES of irate Northern Rock customers taking out their money this week have led some of the media to predict a house price meltdown of apocalyptic proportions.

For anyone who has been grinding away in a seemingly futile attempt to get on the property ladder, the prospect of falling house prices after years of being told to take a mortgage worth many times their annual income is ... well, as the Chinese say, we live in interesting

I am aged under 30 and still living with my parents.

I am sure this is not what they imagined this time of their lives would involve.

Most of the people I know are either enduring a similar humiliation (or inflicting themselves on their unfortunate parents, depending on your point of view) or are renting from a landlord who regards them as little better than parasites.

A couple I know have been trying to buy a house in this area for a couple of years now.

They are a few years older than me, neither of them earn particularly large amounts of money, and they have been renting since they were married.

They are thoroughly sick of being at the mercy of a landlord's whims, the feeling of being reliant on someone else's 'goodwill' to ensure shelter.

They have tried to buy several properties in this time, sucked in their pride, accepted loans from their parents, and had their bank agree to a mortgage.

The sales have always fallen through.

The owners of the houses always decided to hold out for more money, which my friends did

One of these people was trying to sell their second home; understandably my friends are a little bit disheartened by the whole business.

The rest of my friends who are still plaguing our parents take this as a cautionary tale, and thankfully stump up this month's rent.

The greed and self-interest of the householders who backed out of these sales can be hard to believe, but I suppose they are only protecting their own investments.

You have to wonder what kind of authority allowed this housing shortage to develop in this fashion.

In Kent we have been told more houses will be built over the next 20 years as part of Government plans to develop the area.

Does anyone want to bet their tenancy agreement these will be in any way suitable for the needs of the area?

If you want a four-bedroom detached house that has a couple of acres of garden on our beautiful south coast for your holiday home, then rejoice.

That's what we will probably get given local councils' track record.

If, however, you are looking to buy a well designed, affordable first home, then you had better keep on hoping.

Either that or have yourself a couple of children, and apply for council housing.

NEIL CUGLEY

The Folkestone Invicta manager is one of the bestknown faces on the Kent football scene and is now in charge of his hometown club

How has the Folkestone area changed?

I WAS born in Bournemouth Road in Folkestone 51 years ago and have lived in the area ever since. When I was 10 years old I moved down the road to Hythe, which is where

I think the area has gone downhill over the years. As a child I used to spend happy days on Folkestone beach, playing in the sand and having games of mini-golf, but it is all run-down now.

The sea is Folkestone's biggest asset, but I don't think it is used particularly well. When you go to places like Portsmouth or Bournemouth you can see what can be done to make the seaside an attractive place, but the money has not been spent here.

It is sad, but hopefully there will be some investment soon and the area around the harbour will become a good place to spend time again.

How far can you take Folkestone Invicta?

I PLAYED for Invicta in their youth sides and have been the manager for 11 years. When I took over, it was a Kent League club, but we have gone up a couple of leagues since then and now we are an established side in the Ryman Premier League.

I believe with some investment we could get another promotion and reach the Conference South.

We always have the problem of being tucked away geographically, which is difficult when so many players are based in London. The club has a good youth policy, though, and the future looks good.

Community paper brings us together

What a fantastic idea this is. Community-based, and keeping people in touch with all the very exciting projects that are happening and are going to happen for our area.

We can make a difference as a community, but it is getting together as a community that

I see Yourshepway as a very important tool in pulling the community together, informing us of important issues and outcomes. Well done, and I wish the paper every success

Where there's a will there's a way

Following the alarming report from the National Consumer Council which highlights that as many as 27 million people in England and Wales have not made a will, Help the Aged would like to take the chance to stress that by not making a will, not only is there a danger that your possessions will not be distributed according to your wishes, but there is also the worry that relatives will be left with months of hassle and uncertainty as well as the possibility of having to pay hefty legal costs.

As the NCC report highlights, people should also be aware that cohabiting partners do not have any automatic rights.

But it is not just important to make a will, it is also essential to

HAT A WELC

A TEAM of 90 KOS Media roadrunners alongside those from InvictaFM took to the streets of Kent last week to mark the exciting launch of our eight new free midweek newspapers.

Thousands of new readers were introduced to Yourashford, Yourcanterbury, Yourdover, Yourmaidstone, Yourmedway, Yourshepway, Yourswale and Yourthanet

And every one of the new papers serving the variety of communities also has an accompanying website to bring you daily news and sport updates.

All give you access to our free broadband television channel, Yourkenttv.co.uk with its unique property, and business channels as well as leisure, motoring and sport.

The new newspapers were widely welcomed by all sectors and we have printed a selection of some of the letters we received.

"I am glad to see a new newspaper for this area which is genuinely offering something new – the on-line television brings a whole new dimension to local news coverage," said Phil Read, from Faversham, who works in Dover.

Looking forward to next week's read

I live in Chatham and have just picked up a copy of Yourmedway. I want to let you know it is a wonderful paper. The quality of the paper is excellent, it is well-printed, looks great and is a fantastic read.

I used to be a printer and I always like to see local news. I don't get national papers anymore as I think they are on the same level as the Beano or Dandy – they are full of nonsense.

Yourmedway is full of local news, it was a great read. Please keep up the good work and I look forward to the next edition."

John Southgate, aged 70, by telephone, from Chatham

We can learn from the scarecrow artist

I love the Hei people, those amazing scarecrows that have been on show around Medway and on the Isle of Sheppey and was genuinely upset to see they suffered a couple of months ago at the hands of vandals.

But I was pleased to read in your new newspaper how the artist has come back from this setback and remains undeterred. His spirit is an inspiration to us all and I hope others will learn.

The old saying the few should not spoil it for the majority is true and he encapsulates that.

By the way, I liked your newspaper and look forward to it becoming a part of my week.

Lee Woodward, by email

Big top not the only answer for city

I was amused to read Yourcanterbury's front page story about The Marlowe Theatre's plan to go into a giant circus tent to bring live theatre to the city when the old building is refurbished next year.

This city deserves a world-class theatre and hopefully the work will ensure that is the case.

And while I applaud efforts made to ensure productions continue, don't forget the Gulbenkian.

Taking a closer look at ancient words

In your report last week, Simon Robinson describes this book (Textus Roffensis) as "Anglo-Saxon text," "information on the English language" and "record of the English language", but the section shown is in Latin. Why?

From one old favourite to another

Leslie Grantham has some big boots to fill in the stage version of the television classic Dad's Army

PLAYING a loveable rogue should not be too much of a stretch for Leslie Grantham, but he still found his latest role nerve-racking.

The 60-year-old actor made a successful return to his most famous creation – 'Dirty' Den Watts in EastEnders – after 14 years away. But daring to take on one of the most beloved characters in British comedy history was an entirely different challenge.

Grantham is part of the ensemble cast in the new stage version of hit sitcom Dad's Army. He plays Private Joe Walker in the touring production, which revives two 'lost' episodes of the BBC's enormously successful comedy.

The actor admitted he was initially nervous about the idea.

"People around me were excited when I was offered the chance to be part of a stage version, though I wasn't sure," he said. "But the scripts are great and if the producer and director – who are far more intelligent than me – thought it would work, it had to be worth the risk."

The gamble appears to have paid off, with packed theatres and huge media interest generating a lot of buzz around the tour. Before starting rehearsals, Grantham made the decision not to toy with the version of Walker made famous by the original actor, James Beck.

He said: "People love these characters and they are really enjoying seeing them on stage.

"Many of the audience members know every line. To change who Walker or Jonesy or Pike is would be to short-change the audience and the writers. I was very happy to be offered the part. If anyone was going to play a skinny, ugly Cockney, it was going to be me."

Bearing in mind the necessarily dated concept of Dad's Army, Grantham puts its enduring success down to the high quality of the writing and the essential truth of the situations. Between them, writers Jimmy Perry

Tuesday to Saturday, September 25-29 The Orchard Theatre, Dartford and David Croft had first-hand experience of the Home Guard and the Army – something reflected in another BBC hit It Ain't Half Hot Mum, one of Grantham's personal favourites.

He said. "During rehearsals I realised just how clever the writing is. As a cast, we are having great fun and I think the audiences pick up on that."

Grantham shares the bill with a number of great actors, including Peter Martin, who plays pompous Capt Mainwaring, and David Warwick as his main foil Sgt Wilson.

His relationship with fellow actors has not always been so harmonious, prompting Dirty Den's dramatic exit from EastEnders just 18 months after his return from the grave.

He was forced to apologise publicly after being involved in an internet sex scandal and was caught slating his costars. His character was murdered by on-screen wife Chrissie and buried in the Queen Vic's cellar, but Grantham claimed he had never intended to stay on for more than 18 months anyway.

He said: "It wasn't a difficult decision to return to EastEnders because I simply went back to kill off the character. It's one of those things you do and then move on from."

In his autobiography, released last year, Grantham revealed he had attempted suicide three times since the scandal broke. But he was touched by the level of support he received from members of the public.

"People of all ages came up to me in the street and wished me well," he said. "Getting the book out of the way certainly helped to clear some cobwebs and now I'm working on a screenplay."

• Dad's Army – The Lost Episodes will be at the Orchard Theatre, Dartford, from Tuesday, September 25, to Saturday, September 29. Performances start at 7.45pm daily, with 2.30pm matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. Tickets cost from £13.50-£20.50. To book, call the box office on 01322 220000, or visit www.orchardtheatre.co.uk.

Crowe back in the saddle

BY ELLIE GENOWER

AT times, controversy used to follow Russell Crowe around like a bad smell.

Be it in a New York hotel, where he was accused of assaulting an employee with a telephone back in 2005, or his infamous row with producer Malcolm Gerrie at the 2002 Bafta Awards, Crowe made hot headlines.

But these days, aged 43, the volatile New Zealand-born actor seems to have calmed down and settled happily with wife Danielle Spencer and their two sons Charlie, three, and Tennyson, one, at his ranch in New South Wales, Australia.

During a career in which he's played such colourful characters as schizophrenic mathematician John Nash in A Beautiful Mind and brash British sea captain John Aubrey in Master And Commander, Russell has continued to avoid taking the conventional leading man route with his choice of roles.

More recently he teamed up again with director Ridley Scott for A Good Year and played boxer Jim Braddock in Cinderella Man.

And although box office takings for these films were disappointing by the Aussie actor's standards, it seems that Russell isn't - and probably never will be – all that bothered.

"I just do things that appeal to me," he said firmly. "My primary focus when I read a script is the same as it's always been. What's the story and what's the character?"

One script that made the cut for Russell is this week's cowboy flick 3:10 To Yuma.

In it, he plays tough guy outlaw Ben Wade, who is escorted across the desert plains by strapped-for-cash farmer Dan Evans (Christian Bale) to board a prison train and face trial in the town's federal court. "I really enjoyed the thought of the story," said Russell. "The main thing is reading the script and seeing the dynamic of the characters. I liked the script and it looked like it was going to be fun."

As you'd expect, the plot doesn't run smoothly. Wade is being pursued by a bounty hunter, played by Peter Fonda, and his own gang, while Wade himself is continually trying to charm his captor into setting him free.

"I don't like Wade and I wouldn't want to hang out with him, but I liked playing the guy," said Russell.
"I liked his forthrightness, his attitude to life and his hat. His trousers weren't bad, either especially the leather inserts."

Russell also displayed talent with a gun: he was rumoured to be the quickest draw on set.

"Coming from Australia, I didn't have much experience of gun culture," he said. "So I'd

Ben Wade who is on his way to prison in 3:10 To Yuma never actually held a handgun until I was on the set of the Quick And The Dead back in Overall, Russell thought it was an easy film to make. He said: "Ride horses, play with guns, speak in a funny voice, wear pointy boots, you

"It's all fun because it's skill sets that I've already taken on board in previous roles, so I can just focus on the character and the way this particular guy is in his environment. So there's absolutely nothing about this job that was really hard work."

Go upmarket on the Algarve

BY ANN BIRD

THAT Cliff Richard knows a thing or two. So do Michael Owen and Ronan Keating. Not to mention Madonna.

What do they know? That the Quinta do Lago resort on the Algarve is an irresistible place to relax. So irresistible, in fact, that the locals claim these celebs have all bought properties here over the years.

Indeed, Cliff is so taken with this part of Portugal that he's even established a vineyard, Quinta do Moinho, just up the road at Guia, where you can sample his wine.

In reality, Quinta do Lago is actually a vast area of many different resorts and is well known as a haven for golf lovers.

But it's also a surprisingly attractive spot for families, as I discovered when I took my toddler to the Monte da Quinta Club 'village' at the southern end of Quinta do Lago, about a kilometre from the sea.

With about 170 townhouses and villas in the club, each with its own pool, it's like a cross between an upmarket Center Parcs and Wisteria Avenue (for fans of TV's Desperate Housewives).

With almost 100 gardeners and groundstaff employed on the complex, many of these cobbled lanes and immaculate gardens are almost as high-maintenance as those wellheeled women of the small screen.

Each property is privately owned - mainly by

ROOMS WITH A VIEW: Monte Da Quinta Club 'village' on the Algarve is the perfect place to relax and unwind

British or Irish investors - who then let their houses to tourists at certain times of the year.

With a maid coming in every day to tidy our villa, it didn't take us long to realise we had all the benefits of staying in a hotel but with the independence and privacy of self-catering thrown in.

Just 100 metres away is the little MQ shopping centre, which includes a stylish trattoria offering decent pizza and pasta takeaways.

Not only is the clubhouse home to the large communal indoor and outdoor pools and health club, it also houses Kids World.

Children from ages three to 12 can be dropped off here for half-day or full-day sessions (20-35 euros) and can then throw themselves into treasure hunts, plaster painting, puppetry or even go on trips to the local zoo.

Kids World will also arrange babysitting for 15 euros an hour.

Quinta do Lago is separated from the Atlantic Ocean by the beautiful Rio Formosa nature reserve, which is home to many migratory birds. A long wooden footbridge crosses the estuary and links the car park, where we left our bikes, to the dune-backed beach.

There, sand and surf stretches as far as the eye can see, the view broken only by the sight of windsurfers making the most of the frequent strong breezes.

It's a great strand for sandcastles, but the sea can be a bit rough - and cold - for little ones.

It's a good idea to bring a picnic, although fish fans can spoil themselves at Gigi's, one of the very few restaurants along the beach and one of the most famous on the Algarve.

There's no menu as such, just a list of the catch, which is charged by the kilo. We went for grilled squid for two in a delicious garlic sauce at 27 euros.

In fact this is one of the few places around here where you might bump into some Portuguese locals. That's how good it is.

In fact, I only began to feel a bit stressed again when it was time to pack up for the half-hour taxi ride to Faro airport for the flight

History

A key part of the Algarve's history is the five centuries of Arab occupation. It makes itself known in the region's architecture and the number of place names that begin with Aj. The 1755 earthquake, which had its epicentre very close to Lagos, destroyed much of the Algarve. But not even this would stop the algarvios, who rebuilt the Algarve and made it what it is today.

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRAN

AQUARIUS

(Jan 21 – Feb 19)

YOU can't change anybody's mind by intimidation. Simply make your case and hope they'll take the hint. If they decide to take a different path, learn to live with it and move in. This may means breaking off your association or finding another job. Fortunately, you are very resilient. Don't get into a childish argument with a lover.

TAURUS

(Apr 21 – May 21)

IMPULSIVE spending could prevent you from having money for something you really enjoy. Be as frugal as possible. A lover may be pressuring you to go too far, too fast. Put the brakes on now, while you still have a measure of control. Unrealistic expectations at work could force you to spend lots of time away from home.

(July 24 – Aug 23)

DON'T fall prey to temptation friends pressure you into spending money you don't have. If people truly care, they'll respect your request to back off. You could form a love connection with someone spiritual. Don't get drawn into a competition with a rival. Remember a partner has needs or you'll come across as self-centred.

SCORPIO

(Oct 24 - Nov 22)

FRIEND could betray a secret, leading to an argument.

As much as it pains you to do so, you may have to end this relationship. Fortunately, you'll get a lot of hidden support from a prominent woman who witnessed the whole betrayal. Take this opportunity to revisit a memory from childhood that served as a turning point for you.

PISCES

(Feb 20 - Mar 20)

RESENTFUL feelings are starting to surface. You can't keep pretending things are just fine. It's time to discuss some painful truths. It's possible career concerns are undermining your relationship. Be brave and take the problem to your boss. Don't spend every minute at the office. You can't work well if you don't have a personal life.

GEMINI

(May 22 – Jun 22)

A SERIOUS programme of study is coming to a close, giving you more opportunity to get the sort of work you enjoy. Now it's time to turn your attention to family matters. Coming to terms with limitations that were imposed is essential to your personal growth. If this means cutting off contact with critics, so be it. This is a time of transformations.

VIRGO

(Aug 24 - Sep 23)

YOU won't be able to change the minds of people in power so don't even try. It's better to go on record as opposing their plans. That way, when their actions backfire, you'll be ready to assume the reins of power. A moneymaking idea could result in a much better work assignment. Turn a deaf ear to a pessimistic relative.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov 23 – Dec 21)

A BUSINESS or romantic partner may resent your success. While you have no intention of changing your behaviour, it is important to assess this person's position. Maybe you have put your reputation ahead of your relationship. If that's the case, you need to decide which is more important. Don't try to bully people into doing things your way.

ARIES

(Mar 21 – Apr 20)

RESIST the urge to rush at work or mistakes will happen.

An arrogant know-it-all could try to improve your methods, but you're not interested in their ideas, but turning a deaf ear to their suggestions could create a terrible power struggle. Try to give in gracefully to this blowhard's advice, if only for the sake of group harmony.

CANCER

Jun 23 – Jul 23)

KEEPING your feelings under wraps may not be possible.

You've simply got to state your disapproval. Fortunately, you have the opportunity to get away from this person, if only for a few days. A power struggle at work makes it hard to get anything done so you might as well take a break. Keep personal information under lock and key.

LIBRA

(Sep 24 - Oct 23)

YOU may be burning with jealousy over someone who knows a lot more than you do, but you can achieve the just the same level of expertise if you're willing to work for it. It's all a matter of presenting your creative vision to the powers that be. Don't let self doubt prevent you from exploring opportunities a great opening.

CAPRICORN

(Dec 22 - Jan 20)

PUSHING yourself with an exercise regimen could result in an injury. Some powerful anxieties may be causing you to second guess everything that people say. Try not to despair if it seems like your loyalty is misplaced. You'll eventually be rewarded for relinquishing control. This is not a good week to lend or borrow money.

Palin's full of Eastern European promise

BY BEN FALK

MICHAEL Palin is back – this time with a series entitled Michael Palin's New Europe, in which he eschews the far-flung corners of the Earth he tackled in Sahara and Himalaya, to focus on our own continent.

And visiting Europe ended up being just as kooky as his more exotic journeys, particularly when he ventured into Eastern Europe.

He went through 20 countries ("some of them very quickly – sorry Macedonia!") and was delighted to discover the region had changed dramatically since he travelled there during the 80s.

"The misconception was it was grey and grim and it turned out to be very lively and energetic," he says.

Part of that, of course, is thanks to Michael's trademark chats with the locals.

He said: "It's a deliberate process to get people who are basically not politicians, not from the local tourist group and not people who want to tell you about tin production," he explains. "We do try to get non-experts, just people with something to say."

The still-youthful 64-year-old still has to live with the Python spectre which still hangs over this multi-faceted performer, and while his trips to the desert and mountains allowed him to be more anonymous than usual, Europe was a different kettle of fish.

"In Eastern Europe, more than any of the other series, there were a lot of people who did know [me]," he admits.

The series started last Sunday in the former Yugoslavia.

LARKING ABOUT: Michael Palin with children from Estonia whom he met during his new series for BBC One

He said: "Yugoslavia – they loved Monty Python. I remember it was the first non-English-speaking country that took Monty Python, it must have been 1970-71. We were like, "We've made a sale to a foreign country'."

He added: "The Slavs liked it a lot and I met a lot of people who just said what it meant to them at that time. Laughing at Python was a badge of how they would laugh at the system they had there, a little bit of a dig at authority. "But I had to try to tell them I'm interested in your world, not my own."

Indeed, for all the incredible, edgy work Michael has done over the years – from Python and A Fish Called Wanda, to all his travel television series – his real life has always been low key.

He has three grown-up children and has been happily married since 1966. The couple live in Highgate, North London, near Python cohort Terry Gilliam.

It's this affable, regular-guy persona that gives his travelogues a unique touch, with Michael agreeing that: "I don't see myself as 'the presenter' who is going to make sense of the world for you. Because I'm learning."

THE VALUES: This video clip, called Please Forgive Me, was made by talented trio The Values - Matt Lungley, Will Powell and Brad Stockham from Westerham.

Matt and his friend Brad Stockham (bass guitar) are both 16 and shot the video themselves for their GCSE media this year and also for the band's use. Matt said: "I started The Values a few years ago with friends Brad and Will Powell and we were joined by drummer Ben Lockwood. The song Please Forgive Me featured in the video is an early demo which Matt wrote.

"The Values write all their own material and love to perform. "We have different influences, which we bring together to make a fresh tightly-knit sound. Our demos on our website are not very professional compared with how fantastic we sound live."

CONCRETE JUICE: Made to The Prodigy's Under my Wheel, this video was directed, produced, filmed and edited by Katie Fotis and Natalie Lungley, known as Concrete Juice, from Westerham.

Nat said: "Concrete Juice was created by Katie and me for our A-level media studies. It took us about a week to create, often staying after school. We were both 17 when we made the video and were very pleased with the result. Our idea was to create a female band and produce a video along a theme of feisty individuals who could create shock and intrigue in a maledominated world. We are now both 19 but are still very proud of our creation. We chose The Prodigy as I love this record and it embodies the video completely. We would love The Prodigy to see the video we have set to their music and hope we have done their track proud."

Before I was introduced to SureSlim, I had tried other diets which really didn't work for me, I was left feeling miserable, fed up of being the size I was and fed up of being on my own.

My life was being affected by my weight: relationships, day to day life and not being able to control my weight, so I decided to contact SureSlim.

My consultant explained everything, the diet, the foods, the seeds, the times to eat etc, and so I took the plunge. What I really liked and what convinced me to oin, was the one-to-one attention and the whole programme gave me structure and discipline. I also knew SureSlim were always at the end of the phone!

All very different from the other diet clubs I had tried.

During the first week, I had to detox but I had no ill effects at all. I started to enjoy the foods I was allowed and realised that I was eating properly for the first time in ages. I lost 10lbs in the first week!

I have continued to lose weight and have gone from 397lbs to 184lbs, that's 28 stone to 13 stone!

Since losing the weight I can now buy clothes from 'normal shops and I don't stand out anymore because of my weight - I blend in with other people. I've had such a good response from friends and family and I feel so much more confident, healthy and happy in all situations. I now swim regularly and can walk up the stairs without getting out of breath. The more weight I lost, the better my blood pressure readings and cholesterol levels became. I have now come off all the medication I was on and I don't feel tired or lethargic any more and best of all, I have a

Lodge lies in an area of outstanding beauty

A DELIGHTFUL rural location is the setting for Ivy Lodge, a home on the market for £529,000.

Estate agency Cluttons is behind the sale of the home, which is close to the delightful and always popular village of Alkham, in the North Downs between Folkestone and Dover.

A spokesman for the sellers said: "It lies in an Area of Outstanding Beauty and has far-reaching views

"The pretty village of Alkham lies to the south-east and a wide range of shops and amenities can be found in Hawkinge, which is just two miles away.

"The house is a modern detached property and its features include attractive furnishings with the emphasis on natural wood finishes.

"The kitchen has an extensive range of light oak-fronted units with appliances. "It is an altogether desirable residence for the discerning buyer."

The house has four bedrooms and comes complete with almost an cre of gardens with lawn, well-stocked flower beds, trees and shrubs.

It also has a detached double garage, which contains a workshop area.

Research is the key to a retirement home

LOOKING for a retirement home? Then planning and researching are your most valuable tools, according to an expert.

And once again it is the old slogan 'Location, location, location' which should be foremost in your thinking.

After that it's a case of considering exactly how much space you need.

Sarah Woods, editor of the Retirement Property Guide, said: "Consider the community make-up of the area or region.

"Is it popular with retirees? Does it have clubs, associations and leisure amenities for people of retirement age? Are there facilities locally that will enhance your lifestyle and social interests?

"Does the location suit your personal tastes and those of your family?

"Secondly, clarify what type of property you are looking for.
"You should be realistic – there is little point in downsizing to a one-bedroom flat if you have friends to stay each weekend, while purchasing a fivebedroom period home with large garden may not be a sensible option if you plan to travel frequently or you want to keep chores to a minimum.

UNCONVINCED: Property developer John Elliott has serious doubts about the effectiveness of Home Information Packs and predicts an adverse impact on the property market

HIPs expansion a push too much too soon?

DESPITE little evidence that HIPs

- Home Information Packs - are working successfully, or that they are beneficial to the property market, this week has seen their extension to include properties with three or more bedrooms.

Initially, the scheme was to include all homes, but following heavy criticism the proposals were consistently watered down so that they could only be applied to homes with four bedrooms or more.

However, the recent extension will increase the coverage from 22 to 70 per cent of the property market. But is it too much, too soon?

Not only is it too early to evaluate the effectiveness of HIPs, but there has already been evidence that 'speculative sellers', or those who put their home on with agents to test the market, many of whom end up selling, have now been put off.

JOHN Elliott, chief executive of Millwood Designer Homes, takes a close look at the still contentious introduction of Home Information Packs

With the supply of homes coming on to the market at its lowest level for 10 years, surely we should be encouraging sales and not hindering?

The extension to three-bedroom homes will only limit supply further and push up house prices, which have only recently started to

While it may not affect housebuilders such as myself – new homes are exempt, so long as they have an accredited warranty – potential buyers at our developments will need to be more organised when it comes to selling their existing home.

Furthermore, purchasers part-exchanging homes with developers will also require a HIP, so, depending on how long it takes to gather this information, a normally quick sales process becomes drawn out.

With an energy performance certificate being the only new piece of information that has come from the introduction of HIPs, despite purporting to contain all manner of legal documents, I continue to doubt that they have any real purpose, apart from adding to the coffers of Government.

While I fully support anything designed to help preserve the environment, I don't believe that the certificates go any way towards this and the cost outweighs the benefits.

For the second-hand market the results of this energy performance survey may provide the buyers with the leverage to haggle down the price of the home, meanwhile costing the sellers even more money.

MOTORS NEWS

Choosing atlas wins a Toyota Aygo city car

SAT navs may be all the rage, but buying an atlas was a shrewd choice for Paul Benton of Broadstairs — it won him a chic Toyota Aygo city car in a joint promotion by Toyota and publisher Harper Collins.

Mr Benton was presented with the Aygo by Robert Hobbs, centre manager at Motorline Toyota, Canterbury.

"There were an astonishing 700,000 entries for the national competition, which really raised the profile for the Aygo (I-go) – one of our best-sellers," said Mr Hobbs.

"Once people try it, they are always impressed – it may be small on the outside, but it's big on the inside."

New era for Peugeot of both style and quality

PEUGEOT'S new French revolution starts with the first of its '8' series of models and a new era in which the brand offers greater quality and style. The wide sculpted design of the new

The wide sculpted design of the new 308 Ford Focus challenger appears compact yet the cabin feels huge, with or without a panoramic glass roof.

This is largely due to the forward angling of the dashboard/facia and a swooping centre console.

Materials, clocks and gauges are from a class above – while seating and passenger comfort is impressive.

New Saab makeover offers Aero appeal

SAAB has given a dramatic aerodynamic makeover to its 9-3 sports saloon, SportWagon estate and convertible range.

Maidstone Saab brand manager Kevin Root said: "Initial reaction to the new 9-3 has been extremely positive thanks to significant development across three key areas: design, performance and handling.

"The result is a major step forward in strengthening the visual and driving appeal of the award-winning 9-3 range."

Forthcoming options include 'XWD' 4x4 on Saab 9-3 Aero Saloon and SportWagon sporting flagships.

WHAT'S IN A NAME: The Qashgai may be unpronounceable, but it provides a good ride in both town and country and can compete for Nissan in several markets

Nissan's right to roam

MANY theories explain why Nissan named its new family hatchback after an Asian nomadic tribe, the Qashqai.

First, that Nissan itself has meandered too long in this tough market sector.

Second, the Qashqai must put itself about a bit, replacing both the Almera and larger Primera and attacking other sectors too.

Third, all sensible name options were taken up and registered by other car firms years ago. Fourth? I hear someone had a bad cold at a marketing brainstorm. After several loud 'Qashqais!' the whole naming panel was screaming: "That's it! You're a genius!"

But the official line is the Qashqai writes its own rules and lives anywhere – town or country. With two-wheel drive or 4x4 options and looks mixing streetwise hatch with a dash of off-roader, it can be family hack, rep's motorway muncher, rural runabout or school bus. While it looks bigger, its 'footprint' is no more than a family hatch, yet offers more boot space.

And junior engine and trim options are priced to compete (from £13,499) with everyday hatchbacks like the Ford Focus and Vauxhall Astra, though would-be people carrier and recreational 4x4 buyers might try it for size too.

Most sales will be humbler two-wheel drive Qashqais that feel nimbler, ride better and concede little in handling and grip in normal on-road conditions, though both layouts deliver a good ride and tidy cornering.

The Qashqai's distinctive exterior is matched by a smart and comfortable interior with clever stowage and laden with standard goodies; Bluetooth hands-free 'connectivity', electric windows, air con, glovebox cooler and alloys.

Our favourite is the 1.5 dCi (Acenta trim £16,149), using a low emission diesel engine and worth the £1,100 premium over the 1.6 petrol if you cover many miles. It is lively and a six-speed gearbox helps it average 50+mpg.

There are also two-litre petrol and diesel units – the likely choice if you have that £1,600 4x4 option.

Just when you thought things couldn't get any better. Introducing the limited new Freelander 2 with metallic paint, additional body kit, 19" shadow chrome alloy wheels and chrome mirror caps. Look even better whilst experiencing the same class leading technology and breathtaking performance.

Full Urban Kit also available fitted for only £2,500.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Chairman's call to unite for greater good

THE Channel Chamber of Commerce is considering a merger with the Thanet and East Kent Chamber.

Believing that a joining of the two groups would bring together 650 businesses and be beneficial to both areas, Channel Chamber chairman Roy Johnson said in a letter to his members:

"I urge you to support this merger. Nothing will be taken away from your existing chamber.

"Instead it will be an organisation capable of delivering a much greater range of services and compelling the powers that be to address the issues that concern and affect coastal businesses in east Kent."

Members of the chamber will vote on the merger at their AGM on Friday, October 26.

Mr Johnson is asking chamber members to share their views by emailing him at info@channelcommerce.co.uk

Study warns that small businesses are losing out

SMALL businesses in the region are losing out to the tune of more than £87 million a year by not shopping around for the best business current account.

Nationally, that figure is closer to half a billion pounds.

The warning for the South East's companies comes from research conducted by the Alliance & Leicester.

Steve Jennings, director of business banking at Alliance & Leicester Commercial Bank, said: "It's vital that businesses review their banking regularly to ensure they are receiving the value they deserve"

Massive restoration project nears an end

RETURN TO GLORY: Cardy Construction has been working to restore the famous 18th-century mansion Luton Hoo for two years and can now celebrate the project's completion

BATS, James Bond, Hugh Grant and the Queen – all have been part of Cardy Construction's latest and largest project: the restoration of the spectacular 18th-century mansion Luton Hoo.

The Kent construction firm, which specialises in returning old buildings to their former glory, is just wrapping up a £50 million-plus restoration of the grand house in Bedfordshire which received the Queen on her honeymoon and has played host to several high-profile British films, including Four Weddings And A Funeral and The World Is Not Enough.

Once complete, the building will form the jewel in the crown of leading luxury hotelier Elite Hotels.

Canterbury-based Cardy's contracts director Mike Stannard said: "It has certainly been one of our biggest projects to date.

BY GARETH ARNOLD

"However, we have a great deal of experience in jobs of this nature and we have a longstanding relationship with Elite Hotels – so it was not such a daunting task."

Not only was the restoration one of the biggest projects that Cardy has tackled, it was also one of the strangest.

Mr Stannard said: "The estate is home to several species of bats, which are protected by

"We liaised with the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs and built a bat cave with 50 bat boxes to rehouse bats found on site during the restoration project."

And that wasn't the only unusual job facing the firm, which has been working on the site since September 2005. Mr Stannard said: "One of the main challenges is that when you're working on a building that's more than 200 years old you cannot rely on up-to-date survey information.

"This means we had to perform a lot of investigation work to find out if we could do things the way they were drawn by the designers.

"Sometimes we found that things weren't always as they seemed, which meant there were a few problems to overcome. But that's why we're here."

On top of that, the sheer scale of the project was breathtaking. Cardy's builders installed 175,000 metres of cabling, used one million bricks in new buildings, restored 27 chimney stacks and indented more than 3,500 pieces of new stone into the external walls of the mansion house

Kent cricket's number one fan talks about what makes the club special

Boss's Vase hopes are high

DEAL TOWN are in action this weekend in the FA Vase when they host

The game sees Redhill boss Tommy Sampson return to Deal, with whom he won the Vase in 2000.

The visitors have had a mixed start to the season and lie 10th in the Sussex League County League, and Deal boss Derek Hares is confident his side can

"I am hoping to win – we are playing quite well at the moment," he said.

"The league comes first, but the longer we can stay in the cups the more prize money we can get, which of course benefits the club."

Hares is hoping his injury-hit side will recover in time for the match. He was without five first-team players at last Saturday's FA Cup first qualifying round game against Dulwich Hamlet.

Goals from Dean Bathgate and Lee Jones earned a 2-2 draw and a replay at Deal, which was to be played last night.

EYES FORWARD: James Rogers looks to get a Dover Athletic attack under way during the impressive win over Burgess Hill Town in the first qualifying round of the FA Cup

Hessenthaler strike puts Whites on way

DOVER needed patience to break the Burgess Hill resistance, but the Whites on Saturday moved into the second qualifying round of the FA Cup thanks to two goals in the last 10 minutes.

The visitors dominated possession but struggled to create clear-cut chances. The game looked to be heading for a replay, but goals from Andy Hessenthaler and Matt Carruthers secured a place in the draw for the next round.

New signing Lee Browning was cup-tied, so there were no changes to the side from last week's draw with Dulwich.

Both sides started the game slowly, but the first chance was created down the right by Frannie Collin. His cross found Jon Wallis, but his driven effort sailed over the bar.

Matt Geard did briefly threaten for Burgess Hill, when he did well to cut inside from the left and test the Whites defence, but his low shot was straight at Dean Ruddy.

Burgess Hill Town 0-2 Dover Athletic

Craig Wilkins was a threat from set pieces, forcing the keeper into a good save.

Dover's best chance in the first half came just before the break. Mark Lovell's low cross was spilt by Chris Winterton in the hosts' goal into the path of Jimmy Dryden, but the keeper did well to recover and block.

The second half started in much the same vein as the first, with neither side creating much in front of goal.

Just after the hour mark Dover made a double substitution. Strikers Dryden and Lovell were replaced by Carruthers and Byron Walker.

The fresh legs gave a new impetus to Dover and one of the substitutes almost made an immediate impact.

Frannie Collin's cross from the right found Byron at the near post. He flicked the ball goalwards, but the keeper made a great point-blank save with his feet to deny him.

As the game looked to be drifting to a replay, the Whites made a quick breakaway from a Hillian's corner. Ruddy's long kick found Hessenthaler outside the area and he lobbed the ball over the advancing keeper and into the corner of the net.

The game was sealed two minutes later. Another ball over the top found Carruthers on the edge of the area and again the ball was lobbed over the keeper.

Although Dover could have extended their lead when Wallis delivered a free-kick on target, they had done enough to put their name in the hat for the draw for the next round.

It wasn't a great performance by any means, but the side remain unbeaten. They can now look forward to a reunion with Dover legend David Leworthy in the league match at Croydon Athletic this weekend.

IT'S OUR BALL: Strength in numbers counts as Deal & Betteshanger win possession

Winning run is the real Deal

DEAL & BETTESHANGER began slowly but kept their winning start to the season going with a win over Old Mid Whitgiftians on Saturday.

The visitors came out firing and were rewarded with a thoroughly deserved try on five minutes.

The hosts began anxiously and struggled to find their rhythm to begin with, but going behind stirred them to get back into the game.

Deal gradually found their feet, and on 20 minutes winger Luke Armstrong restored some confidence when he burst through the midfield at pace to score a try, converted by Tom Best.

Old Mid Whitgiftians reclaimed the lead with a penalty to lead 8-7 after 30 minutes, which proved to be their last score.

The home side showed their class to restore their lead when some superb passing in the midfield set up Sam Cullis to run over for a 12-8 lead at half-time.

The Deal forwards dominated the scrum in the second half, which translated into territorial advantage. The visitors were tough to break down and there were no scores for more than 30 minutes.

Eventually the deadlock was broken with a penalty, and the scoring was completed when Armstrong ran over for his second of the game to make the game safe.

Deal manager Martin Michaels targeted two wins from the first two games, and he was pleased with the result.

"I'm very relieved with the win," he said.

"They were a test for us and it is good to get the second win."

Deal travel to Lewes on Saturday for their first away fixture of the season.

Saunders keeps Invicta in the Cup

FOOTBALL

BY DAVID PRITCHARD

Folkestone Invicta 1-1 Horsham YMCA

FOLKESTONE INVICTA were last night due to be battling to reach the FA Cup second qualifying round, having been held to a replay by Horsham YMCA on Saturday.

Horsham looked to be heading for a memorable cup upset, but player-coach Mark Saunders spared the home side's blushes with an equaliser 14 minutes from time.

Folkestone started the game as strong favourites after winning their last two games. Neil Cugley's side play their league football one division above Horsham, who have won just once this season.

Despite the perceived difference in class, the visitors stunned the Buzzlines Stadium when Joe Keehan put them in front with a header just before half-time.

Invicta battled back but found Chris May in inspired form in the Horsham goal as he saved from Leigh Bremner.

The pressure almost paid off as the home side were awarded a penalty when James Everitt went down under a challenge from Matt Russell. Kevin Watson stepped up, but his effort struck the crossbar.

The defender made amends soon after when he started the move that led to the equaliser. On 76 minutes James Everitt's cross found Saunders, who saved the day with a firm header.

Horsham almost won the game deep into stoppage time when Steve Davies raced clear and squared the ball to substitute Dan Taylor – Invicta captain Roland Edge cleared off the line.

The final whistle went soon afterwards, setting up last night's scheduled replay.

The winner will receive £2,250 in prize money and progress to the second qualifying round.

THE LONG REACH: Dover 'have only themselves to blame' for throwing away victory against Lordswood

Sharks are sunk by late blunders

DOVER paid dearly for sloppy mistakes as they allowed the visitors to snatch a win deep into injury time and bring the hosts down to earth.

The Sharks started their London 3 South East campaign with an excellent win against Aylesford Bulls, but this result gave the side a reality check against a physical Lordswood team.

Captain Graham Tonks was unhappy with the way the team threw away the match. He said: "We have only ourselves to blame for "Our ball-handling and decision-making was poor by our standards. This is a learning curve for the players and we must erase this defeat from our minds and concentrate on next week's game."

Playing down the slope, the visitors immediately put Dover under pressure. On seven minutes Lordswood intercepted a loose pass to open the scoring.

RUGBY

Dover 17-19 Lordswood

Martyn Beaumont kicked a penalty, but Lordswood hit back with another try.

Dover put up a better fight in the second period. They camped in the Lordswood half for 15 minutes, but some poor decision-making failed to penetrate the robust defence.

Dover finally turned pressure into points on 63 minutes when Jamie Townley touched down under the posts.

The Sharks moved ahead soon after when Buster Collins ran over for a try.

With only injury time remaining, Dover should have closed the game out, but a kick went astray. Careless defending allowed the visitors to pounce for a converted try, which won the game with seconds remaining.

The former Sittingbourne striker signed last week on a free transfer.

Commenting on the signing of Browning, Hessenthaler said: "We have had Lee watched a number of times and keep getting great reports about him.

"He can operate as a striker, left-winger and a right-winger, which gives us some options."
